

"FOUR-MINUTE MEN" CALLED INTO ACTION

"Four-minute men" will be called into action once more to arouse enthusiasm through the county for Janesville's gala Volunteer Home celebration, October 5, two weeks from the coming Wednesday.

Under the leadership of W. H. Dougherty, all the theatres in Janesville, Edgerton and Evansville will be invaded by the speakers who will also attend numerous meetings which may be held in other precincts. The entire county will be invited to take part in the great demonstration.

The publicity committee is working out details of the campaign which will include a series of "ads" in all county newspapers and posters for general distribution.

ALLEGED VANDALS CHASED BY POLICE

Two trips were made by the police last night to the corner of Washington street and Highland avenue in an attempt to capture the gang of boys who are alleged to be committing acts of vandalism throughout the First ward. Both trips failed as the boys were able to get away before the police arrived.

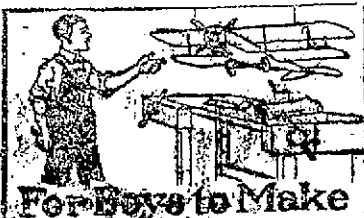

Several complaints have been received by the police department during the past few days regarding the acts of the boys.

In several instances, it is said, the boys have destroyed property, including the fire alarm box in February when in a debate he said he was the father of 16 children, has just been presented with another girl.

LABOR M. P. FATHER OF 17

London.—Arthur Hayday, aged 50, labor member of Parliament for West Nottingham, who was cheered in the House of Commons in February when in a debate he said he was the father of 16 children, has just been presented with another girl.

How to Make a Bow to Carry on the Warpath

By Grant M. Hyde, Instructor in Journalism, The University of Wisconsin.

Make your bow just as long as you are tall and you can shoot an arrow as far as George Washington threw the dollar. Most boys make their bows too short.

Get a solid, straight-grained, well-seasoned piece of hickory or ash, 1 1/2 by 1 1/2 inches and about 6 feet long.

Examine carefully the drawings below. Notice that the inside of the bow is rounded, but that the outside, or back, is perfectly flat. In making the bow always whittle all wood off the inside and the two sides, but do not touch the outside. A bow this way is hard to break and shoots ever harder.

Using a saw, draw-knife and vise, shape the bow roughly. Allow in the center for a 6-inch hand-hole about as big as the handle of your favorite ball bat, but more square in shape. Each tip of the bow will be about 1/2 inch wide and about 1/2 inch thick. Near the hand-hole the bow should taper rapidly; near the tips it should taper gradually.

Having shaped the bow roughly, begin to whittle carefully with a sharp knife. Test it often (see picture). Testing like this will help you get a uniform even bend, just the same at each end. When the bow is almost limber enough, notch the ends (see illustration), put on string and strain the remaining tests as if you were trying to shoot it.

When you can hold the bow out firmly at arm's length and, with your arm straight, just barely pull the string back to your face, it is ready to use or shatter. Tack colored felt around the hand-hole.

The bow-string must be very strong and thoroughly waxed. It should be about two inches shorter than the distance between notches, so that when in place, it will bend the bow five or six inches. Always keep the bow unstung when not in use.

(A bow like this will have arrows that shoot straight and far. Next week.)

Faculty members of the high school vocational school, grade schools and training school attended the annual reception which was held last evening at the high school.

Nearly a hundred teachers gathered in the gymnasium at 8 o'clock. Many get-acquainted stunts were introduced, so that everybody knew everybody else.

Four cozy corners were fitted up. The company was divided into four groups. Each group went into a corner where contests were put on. Speed, sewing on buttons, throwing balls, and stepping on newspapers just so thoroughly tested the ability of the faculty members.

After the refreshments were served, dancing was enjoyed. Boyd Hill of the Song Shop orchestra furnished the music.

Miss Lucille Wilson, head of the domestic science department at the high school, was in charge of the refreshments. Principals of the grade schools planned the entertainment. The board of education attended the reception after the special meeting.

SIDEWALK RIDERS
WILL BE ARRESTED

The practice of riding bicycles on sidewalks of Janesville must stop. Chief of Police Thomas Morrissey, aroused by the absolute refusal of the cycle riders to heed the warning issued by the police, has ordered his men to bring every sidewalk rider to the city hall.

"Many complaints have been received of sidewalk riders and several warnings have been issued, but the persons evidently believe the cautions are a joke," said Chief Morrissey.

"I have given instructions to members of the police department to arrest every person found riding a bicycle on sidewalks and they will be taken before the court and given a chance to explain why they openly ignored the law," said Chief Morrissey.

POLICE BREAK UP
MERRY KEG PARTY

Determined to stamp out all wild parties in Janesville, the police department descended on a crowd of merry-makers near the Townsend factory on South Franklin street last night and confiscated a keg of beer.

Chief of Police Thomas Morrissey directed the raid and succeeded in getting the names of all the persons who were making merry, aided by the stimulant.

"Keg parties will not be tolerated in Janesville and a will arrest and ask for conviction of all persons who participate in such parties," said Chief Morrissey.

Removal Sale

In order to increase our floor space so that we may offer better service to our customers, we have decided to move from our location on So. Main St. to 112 East Milwaukee St., in the Myers Hotel Building next to the Chamber of Commerce.

We are doubling our working force as well as our floor space so that we may give prompt, efficient service to our ever increasing patronage. Service is our hobby. We have been unable to take care of our trade in our present cramped quarters as we wished but hope in the future to give the same high character of service that we have established in the lines of merchandise we handle.

Our large stock must be reduced before we move, for we expect a new stock for the new store. For the next ten days we will offer some very unusual bargains to cash buyers.

Pianos

We are offering a selection of over 30 pianos and player pianos among which are a few good styles left over from our last year's contracts and which we still offer at last year's prices. These low prices in addition to our "removal sale discount" make some very attractive bargains to the first buyers.

Bear in mind this stock is all brand new Standard made goods. Not a single used piano nor an instrument of questionable make on our floor. This is a rare opportunity for it is seldom that you are offered Standard Instruments at such low prices.

Phonographs

On our regular Grafonola and Vocalion stock we will offer club rates. We also have a few odd styles in other makes which we will offer at liberal discounts.

Player Rolls

We will give one roll free with each roll purchased (not including Q R S Rolls.)

Floor Lamps and Small Goods

A straight reduction of 10% from our already low prices. These goods were all bought and priced before the summer advances so you may be sure of an appreciable saving.

INSPECTION OF ALL MEAT URGED.

The stability of the live stock and meat industries of this country depends on public confidence, and until the public has assurance that all of its meat is wholesome the work of establishing public confidence will be incomplete. At present about two-thirds of the meat supply is federally inspected and stamped accordingly by the United States department of agriculture, but until something effective is done toward insuring proper inspection of the remaining one-third which is slaughtered and sold entirely within state boundaries and over which the national government has no direct authority, the public, as a whole, can never feel certain that the purity and wholesomeness of its entire meat supply is assured.

These statements were emphasized by Dr. John R.
Mohler, chief of the bureau of animal industry of the United States department of agriculture, in an address on September 16, before the American Meat Packers' association in session at Atlantic City. The bureau of animal industry, he said, has just completed a survey of municipal and state meat inspection. The data gathered show that less than one-third of the cities in the United States with a population of 5,000 or more maintain any kind of meat inspection. Where inspection is maintained it is frequently incomplete. Less than one-fourth of the cities reporting indicated that ante-mortem examinations are made and in many cases little assurance was furnished that condemned meats were actually withheld from distribution.

Any inspection worthy of the name, Dr. Mohler stated, must be thorough, including an examination both before and after slaughter and a study of the organs as well as the meat itself. Such inspection can be given at low cost. The bureau of animal industry maintains its very thorough inspection service at a cost to the people of less than six cents for every animal slaughtered. That amount covers both ante-mortem and post-mortem inspection and the final examination of the finished products.

Federal inspection applies to all slaughter houses and packing plants engaged in inter-state or export trade. Where the products of the establishment are consumed entirely within the state the national government has no authority to inspect the animals it slaughters or the products it sends out. It has been found that federal slaughter covered, in 1918, 75.1 percent of cattle slaughtered, an increase of 13.7 percent over the corresponding figure in 1914. In the same period, the per capita consumption of beef increased 13.3 percent. Dr. Mohler thinks that, while the similarity of the figures may be largely a coincidence, it is logical that federal inspection of meats has had something to do with the amount which people eat. In view of such conditions, he said, it is obvious from the standpoint of public service that plans should be made that will insure the people of the country wholesome meat and ample supply. He told of a woman who recently appeared before the city council of San Diego, California, which was debating changes in local meat regulations. She told the council there were three reasons why she did not want to see anything but government inspected meat in San Diego, and thereupon introduced her three children to the council. She explained that Uncle Sam demanded federal inspected meat for his soldiers and sailors and that her children were just as valuable to her as Uncle Sam's were to him.

HASTE WILL NOT HELP.

Senator Johnson in an address before the Minnesota legislature declared that boosters for an immediate ratification of the peace treaty are fearful of losing their battle if the matter is not disposed of at once by the United States senate. He declares that if the ratification is delayed until the people have an opportunity to thoroughly acquaint themselves with the treaty, it will be defeated in its present form.

Much time has been consumed in an attempt to get the document into shape so that it may be adopted without danger of the United States relinquishing any of the advantages of a free and independent nation.
Surely harm cannot now come by delaying until the public is assured that its adoption will conserve the institutions for which our forefathers fought and died and for which our sons went to France to guard.

It sounds threatening for President Wilson to declare that unless the treaty is adopted immediately without reservations the country will be the loser. But we have withstood turmoil ever since he refused to take the senate into his confidence before he left France, and it is reasonable to believe that we can stand it a little while longer.

A straw vote right now would no doubt show that the American people do not favor certain terms of the treaty which will entangle us in European alliances.
They are satisfied to let Europe settle her own difficulties now that our soldiers have done their part. The United States does not stand for the things Europe stands for and never will as long as the spirit of democracy, which has made us the strongest nation on earth, is maintained.

INCREASED PENSIONS FOR G. A. R.

The house pension committee has reported favorably on a bill which will fix the pensions of civil war veterans at $50 monthly. This measure should be put through congress without delay.

The men who fought in the '60's are becoming few, those who remain with us are approaching the end of their span of life. The cost of living has increased to such an extent that many of our aged warriors find their present pensions go but a little ways in meeting the demand for necessities.

Our government has been generous to some extent in caring for the soldiers of the recent war. It perhaps will do more for them in the future. But the need for immediate action in providing adequate compensation for the members of the Grand Army of the Republic is imperative.

THE PROPOSED STEEL STRIKE.

The steel workers are determined to strike Monday because the plants in which they are employed refuse to close their shops against non-union labor. They assert that they will not wait until after the labor conference at Washington, called by President Wilson, because they have been unable to get a satisfactory hearing from Judge Gary, head of the United States Steel corporation. Their fight is against the open shop.
Their leaders declare the workers have been persecuted since an attempt has been made to unionize the plants.
Judge Gary on the other hand says that the majority of the employees of his corporation are satisfied with the

LIFE'S SALESMANSHIP.
The world is but one mighty store Where all that man are looking for Is stored upon its range of shelves.
And we are salesmen of ourselves.
Each of us, as he walks along,
Would win the favor of the throng,
And each of us, in various ways, Strives to deserve another's praise.

Since what is false men will not buy, No man should ever tell a lie; Men scorn the cunning of the cheat And spurn the practice of deceit.
In life today it is well known That he who sins must live alone.
While in its markets honor brings Reward above all other things.

Who seeks for popularity Upright and manly here must be, However great may be his skill.
He must be kind and gentle still,
And must not, though he wear a crown, Upon his fellow men look down;
Men cheer ability's success, But hate bad manners none the less.

Youth sell yourself, but not for gold Or treasures which your hands can hold.
The highest price for which man spends His days of life, is love of friends.
Go forth into the markets here And carry kindly words of cheer.
Be gentle, honest, staunch and true, And men shall give their love to you.

conditions under which they work, and that he will maintain an "open shop" as long as that satisfaction remains.

These are the contentions of the two parties in conflict. But what of the great mass of people of this nation who will be affected by such a strike? Reconstruction is under full sway. Never in the history of the country have building operations been as extensively carried on as they have since the signing of the armistice. Never in the history of the country has everyone, including the men who work for day wages, been so prosperous. If the steel industry of the country is tied up, hundreds of thousands of contented workmen will be forced to idleness. Is it not selfish for the steel workers to force their demands at this time? We believe that most of the people of this country will agree it is.

The insane population in the county is only one more than it was last year. That's not so bad considering the league of nations fight, the high cost of living.
Of course the world series begins next month.

Those Milwaukee brewers called before Judge

The Hottest Stuff on Earth

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN, Director

Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau, Washington, D. C.

BY FREDERICK J. HASKIN.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 17.—The hottest stuff on earth—the constituent of red pepper—has been isolated, analyzed and put up in a little bottle by Dr. E. K. Nelson of the Bureau of Chemistry.

Dr. Nelson may be said to have taken the pep out of pepper, and thereby to have produced pure pep.
This remarkable substance bears about the same relation to red pepper that saccharin does to sugar. It has the essential quality of pepper—the burning quality intensified about five hundred times, just as saccharin has the sweetness of sugar greatly intensified.

In soldiers' rations, a very small tablet of this substance is used for many pounds of sugar. A little capsule, as it is called, will do the work of tons of red pepper. It will not give the faint flavor which pepper derives from its essential oil, but it will give the sense of hotness with the most astonishing generosity. A small pinch of capsule would make a whole kettle of soup so hot that no one could eat it.

"Pepp" Aplenty

The strength of this substance is almost incredible. Dr. Nelson has about two ounces of it. He calculates that one of those ounces, if sufficiently diluted, would be enough to put a peppery taste on the tongue of every man, woman and child in the United States.

Dr. Nelson has a solution of cap-sulein in alcohol, which consists of one part of the hot stuff to one hundred thousand parts of alcohol. Valuing the capsulein at $100 a pound, he estimates the value of this solution at $100,000. The doctor allowed a newspaper man to touch with his tongue a single drop of the precious fluid on a flake of glass. It may be stated that if this concoction were placed in general circulation, it would breathe a new meaning into the word "hotter."

This substance was isolated long ago by a British chemist named Thresh, who swallowed some of it in a capsule and had one of the most violent stomach aches in the history of science. His discovery attracted some attention at the time but was soon forgotten. It remained for Doctor Nelson to analyze the substance.
He not only did that, producing the acid and the base of which it is made, but he also made synthetically a substance almost like it.

The doctor had some interesting adventures with his discovery. From working in his laboratory with the fumes of capsulein his face became red and irritated that he had to give up shaving for a while. A little of the vapor got into his eyes, and he was temporarily blind. But he found that the substance has absolutely no permanent effects. His eyes in due course returned to normal, and he was able to wear his spectacles again.

His whiskers are unharmed.

Brings Sneezes and Coughs By way of trying out the effect of capsulein upon the human system, a very small pinch of it on a piece of metal, and heated it until it vaporized. He then opened the door of his laboratory and drew the fumes out by placing an electric fan behind him. He himself remained behind the fan.

SOFT COLLARS BANNED

London.—On the ground that they "make for general untidiness of dress" the master of Dulwich College has prohibited the wearing of soft collars by the students there.
Several other institutions are considering similar action, although the soft collars still are permitted by Harrow and Eton authorities.

AND HE DID

BILL THROW THAT
MATTRESS OUTA TH'
WINDOW!

When two men—one the son of a mayor of a city and the other a son of a common laboring man—have a fight and are both placed under arrest, and are both taken before the court at the same time, and are both charged with the same offense in identical the same language, and when both of the men plead guilty to the charge, why would the son of a mayor be fined ten dollars and costs and the son of the laboring man be fined fifty dollars and costs?

Do you think the son of a mayor would reason in this fashion?
Would the son of the laboring man recognize it as equal justice?
Would anybody think it was equal justice?

I do not think it is justice, at all.
Maybe I'm wrong.
Roy Wooster.

WATER AS WAR MEMORIAL

London.—Lord de Ramsey has given $5,000 towards the cost of the war memorial at Ramsey, which is taking the form of a pure water supply. Oil is circulating into the water wells there.

SLAKE ON DOORSTEP

London.—Coming home late at night, a Chatham resident found a snake curled up on his doorstep.
He had escaped from a traveling show.

ASK US

Q. Can you tell me what is the shortest name of containing every letter in the English alphabet? R.
W. W.

A. This is generally given as "The quick brown fox jumped over the lazy brown dog."

Q. What is the function of the "Adam's Apple," and is there any way of reducing its size? F. J. B.
A. The function of the Adam's Apple is to produce the voice. There is no way of reducing it, and no attempt should be made to perform such an operation. The prominence of the Adam's Apple is often due to the small proportion of fat and tissue which normally lie over it. A tight collar will often cause its enlargement.

Q. Has anyone christened ships since last July with still spirits containing more than one and one-half percent alcohol? S. S.
A. There is no law forbidding anyone christening ships with liquor, but it is not being done by the United States Navy.

Q. Can you give me the name and height of the tallest building in New York? R. B.

A. The highest building in New York is the Woolworth building. It is 780 feet high and has fifty-one stories.

Q. Is there any scripture which refers to the oath taken in court or other legal business affairs? M. I. V.

A. The passage of scripture, "But I say unto you, swear not at all," is taken by the Friends, and other religious bodies, as their authority for refusing to take the oath in a court of law.

Q. Will you please advise the proper insignia to place on the monument of a nurse who died while in war service? S. Q.

A. All nurses who die in the service are entitled to the regulation headstone allowed all deceased soldiers. The insignia of the American Nurse Corps is the Caduceus. This is the emblem of the Medical Corps—a winged rod entwined by two snakes.

Q. Can you oblige me with some information about the Royal Northwest Mounted Police of Canada? J.
L. M.

A. This body was organized in 1873 by the Canadian government to preserve law and order in the wilderness northwest of Lake Superior.
To join the police a man must be between the ages of twenty to a forty years and be sound in health and of good character. He must also be able to read and write either the English or French language, and to both ride well and understand the management and care of horses. The headquarters of the Mounted Police, is at Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada.

Q. Can you explain the meaning and use of the mace? W. L.

A. The mace was originally a weapon in the shape of a club, but it is now used as an insignia of authority in legislative chambers. It is borne before magistrates and other dignitaries as a symbol of authority.
Q. Has the Papal Infallibility Action abolished papal powers, and to what extent does he use them? J. M.

A. The Monsignor assigned to Washington has no consular or powers and is not recognized by this government.

TRAVELETTE

By NILES.

SEGOVIA
Segovia is a dead city of Spain.
There are some houses in this town which both lived and died within half a century, and few that are much more than a century old. But Segovia died centuries ago and it is as dead as a doornail.

The Romans built Segovia. It stands on a rocky ridge between two swift rivers—a compact little city of narrow streets. A mighty aqueduct, which was built by the Romans, still brings the city its water supply from the Guadarrama mountains. Se-govia is high and narrow on its ridge, like a great ship in the plain, moored by its aqueduct to the distant mountains.

Segovia is a city of deserted churches. Long ago it lay in a sort of contested land between the region held by the Moors and that held by the Christians. Sometimes one had the upper hand, and sometimes the other. Both burned churches there.

Now Segovia has lost so much of its population that most of these churches stand empty. Despite the fact that Spain is a poor land, some of them have been locked for centuries, and only the bats know the secrets of their dark interiors where neither sound nor sunlight has been for so long. Others have attendants who will open their doors to the curios.

Once a week Segovia awakens.
Peasants come to the city from all the surrounding country. They are primitive people who look like figures from the middle ages. There is laughing and color in the streets then, open their doors to worshippers. But by sunset all of the peasants are gone, and Segovia goes to sleep for another week.

GRAIN

Weekly Review.
Chicago, Sept. 19.—(Business over the threatened steel strike and other disturbing industrial conditions have been much to force down the corn market this week, notwithstanding a larger movement to hold back grain and livestock so as to obtain higher prices. Compared with the previous week, corn was 1/2c to 1c lower this morning, oats varying from 1/4c decline to 1/2c advance and provisions up 1/4c to 1/2c.

New crop deliveries of corn had fallen to 10,000 bushels, but this, with the fact that the steel strike has not yet been settled, has put the market on a high level. The steel strike has not yet been settled, but the market is still on a high level. The steel strike has not yet been settled, but the market is still on a high level. The steel strike has not yet been settled, but the market is still on a high level.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Corn dropped decidedly today as a result of the pending steel strike. The market of the Chicago building trade tie-up failed as an effect and the steel strike was not of an aggressive character. Opening prices, which ranged from 1/2c to 1c lower, with December 1.25 1/2c and May 1.20 1/2c.

Oats sympathized with the weakness of corn, and opening 1/4c to 1/2c, the market continued to decline. Provisions gave way with cereals. Strength in the hog market was virtually ignored. Covering by shorts led afterward to something of a rally. The close was unchanged, with December 1.22 1/2c and May 1.20 1/2c.
